Venue Synopsis

Featured by Good Morning America in 2010, this is the house that Sarah, the troubled Winchester rifle heiress, built. Seeking a way to rid herself of the spirits of those killed by the "Gun that Won the West," Sarah sought the advice of a medium. That consultation resulted in Sarah spending decades, as well as her $20 million inheritance, obsessively building onto the house. With its architectural oddities designed to disturb, confuse and evade these restless spirits that haunted her (such as stairways leading to nowhere, a chimney that rises only 4 floors and windows opening to walls) millions of visitors agree this beautiful historic treasure is among the most haunting and haunted places on earth. Santana Row and Westfield Valley Fair Shopping Center, across the street and 2 blocks away respectively, offers post-tour options for retail, restaurants and relaxation.

Group Tour Options

Choose from the 1 hour Mansion Tour, the 1 hour Behind-the-Scenes Tour or the 2.5 hour Grand Estate Tour and don't miss the free Self-Guided Tour of the beautiful Victorian Garden included with every admission. The special year-round Friday the 13th Flashlight Tour and October Fright Nights, transform the estate into San Jose's most terrifying and fun experience.
